The Morris County Department of Law & Public Safety and the Morris County Office of Emergency Management, along with the Morris County Board of Chosen Freeholders, is pleased to announce the Fourth Annual Morris County Public Safety Youth Academy (MCPSYA). The MCPSYA is a five-day program that will be open to all Morris County, New Jersey students who will be enrolled in Grades 9-12 in the Fall of 2016. The program is sponsored by the Board of Chosen Freeholders, and is completely free of charge to the cadets and their families.

The MCPSYA is a uniquely designed program which serves to provide high school students exposure to the various rewarding facets within the field of public safety. This program has been designed with the intent to target Morris County's young adults at a time when decision-making for the future is of the utmost importance. The MCPSYA strives to afford them the opportunity to better understand the field of public safety in order to optimize their success in the future. Our goal is to aid young adults in making a professional commitment that could potentially impact their careers, their character, and their community.

The MCPSYA is a unique program that exposes cadets to all facets of the public safety profession. This intensive program will provide cadets with specially designed training and hands-on experience in the fields of police, fire, EMS, emergency management, and more.

Class size is limited and we expect that this class will fill to capacity quickly. To find out more information about this exciting program, or to apply for enrollment, please visit <http://www.morrisoem.org>
